VERNON — The Kinsale Club of Westford is sponsoring a highly successful New Venture for a Fourth Christmas bazaar with music, delicious foods, selling Christmas gift articles and baking will be in the Royal Canadian Legion, 440-450 St. Lawrence St. Bazaar hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Canadian Legion ladies Auxiliary are in charge of home baking for the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints are selling hand-knitted sweaters. The Kinsale Lodge will be in charge of the Christmas dinner. The ladies are also selling Christmas cards. The bazaar will be operating a mixed delicatessen.

LUMBER — More plans were made for the Fall Bazaar to be held Friday, Nov. 20, at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Guild, in the Legion Branch 167. This is hoped to be a gala affair, and there will be a tea price of a butany, which was made to the late Mrs. Ian Mullie.

Any item for the white elephant booth or the candy stall would also be appreciated.

In charge of the booths are: Mrs. W. Treen, sewing; Mrs. J. Dyck, candy; Mrs. J. Byck, white elephant; Mrs. W. Bush, refreshments; Mrs. R. Howard, parcel post; Mrs. R. Wilson, tea serving and home baking.

Plans were also made for the Guild wedding which is to take place on Nov. 21 and to which the Legion is catering.

The annual poppy sales came along very well this year and the thanks is extended to the Air Cadets for their part in the helping to canvass the area.

The annual note meeting is to be held in Kelowna this year and two possible delegates are Mrs. S. Donovan and Mrs. W. Gould.

The I.A. also decided to cheer up a needy veteran who it seems has a fondness for frocks. A gift of this type is "booked."

Plans have also been completed for the children's Christ-

VERNON — Vernon gave final reading of the City Fluoridation Bylaw to authorize the submission to the electors of the question of fluoridation to the water supply. Ald. Eric Palmer opposed the motion.

Electors will be asked the question—"Are you in favor of fluoridation of the water supply of the City of Vernon?"

Voting on the fluoridation referendum will be at the Scout Hall, on Dec. 12.

WINFIELD — The recent bake sale at the Woodside Packing House netted the Hospital Auxiliary a total of $26.

Treasurer, Mrs. Joe Hinks, told the meeting this news in her financial report.

Fifteen members were present and President Mrs. Verne Slater welcomed a visitor Mrs. R. Warnock.

The business of the meeting consisted of listing the contributions to the Christmas hamper which will be awarded at the next meeting Dec. 7.

Also complete arrangements were made for the Old Age Christmas Christmas water dinner which the Auxiliary is catering for on Dec. 8.

Vanier Hands Hero Minister Medal For Boy's Rescue

OTTAWA (CP)—A 14-year-old United Church student minister from Calgary received the Royal Life Saving Society's Mountbatten Medal for bravery from Governor-General Vanier Wednesday.

Kenneth David Howlett, who rescued four-year-old Steven Inman from the icy waters of the North Saskatchewan River in Edmonton Dec. 4, is the second Canadian in 13 years to receive the medal.

It is awarded annually to a resident of one of the Commonwealth countries by the life saving society's grand president, Earl Mountbatten of Burma.

Another Canadian, Robert B. Wardle of Vulcan, Alta., was the first person to receive the award when it was established in 1951. He rescued a two-year-old boy who had fallen into a deep stream.

This year's winner received the silver medal, which bears Lord Mountbatten's personal crest, at a simple Government House ceremony.

Mr. Howlett was presented to Gen. Vanier and his wife in one of the stately drawing rooms of the governor-general's residence.

PROUD OF YOU
Gen. Vanier said as he made the presentation: "I'm most happy to give you this medal and bear the citation of which you must be very proud. We are certainly very proud of you."

The citation read in part: "Mr. Howlett, a student minister at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, was driving in a car with friends near the North Saskatchewan River in Edmonton on the afternoon of Dec. 4, 1963, when he noticed three boys apparently in trouble on the ice near the river bank."

The boy aged three was in the water but clinging to the edge of the ice, and was pulled out by one of Mr. Howlett's companions. Another boy, aged four, was face downwards in the water and drifting down the river. Mr. Howlett immediately stripped off most of his clothing and entered the water with a makeshift life-line of shirt and belt. When this proved too short, he let go and swam to the boy."

After towing the child to shore, Mr. Howlett applied mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration and succeeded in reviving him. Mr. Howlett's immediate action in entering the water with out thought for his own safety and application of artificial respiration at the first rescue attempt, and his quick saving of the life of the four-year-old boy."

Riders Resent Being Labelled East's Second-Best Club

By JACK SULLIVAN

Canadian Press Sports Editor

If Ottawa Rough Riders make it to the Grey Cup final, it might be wise if people refrained from calling them the second-best football team in the East. Many of the present-day Riders players recall with some bitterness that tag given to them in 1960.

That was the year the Riders finished second behind Toronto Argonauts in the regular Eastern Conference schedule and made it to the cup against Edmonton Eskimos in a cliff-hanging EFC final series with Argos. The Eskimos also finished second in the Western Conference.

That was the setting for

BOY BELLHOP HAPPIER NOW

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—There's going to be a happy ending to the story of the under-age bellhop whose alertness foiled a double motel holdup and also lost him his job.

His boss says Paul B. Anthony will be back lugging suitcases next month—when he is 16.

The youngster, a high school sophomore who bell-hopped at night, says he's delighted. He has no hard feelings about his ironic reward—unemployment.

"It struck me as being kind of funny," he said. "I'd have died laughing if I read about it happening to someone else."

The youngster, who worked as a relief bellhop two or three days a week after school, until 11 p.m., was at home chatting on the telephone Sunday with room clerk Joseph F. Gillin.

HEARD THREAT

Suddenly, the conversation stopped. Paul overheard a gunman threaten to kill the clerk.

Paul hung up and called police. Officers nabbed the holdup man as he tried to rob a nearby second motel.

Paul's newspaper fame was his professional undoing.

Child labor laws allow 15-year-olds to work only from 5 to 6 p.m. or from 4 to 7 p.m.—not long enough for the bellhop's job.

Manager David Rizzuto had to let Paul go. But Tuesday the labor department pointed out 16-year-olds can work until 10 p.m., eight hours a day, 40 hours a week.

Paul will be 16 Dec. 17.

printed statements about the two second-best teams in the country meeting for Earl Grey's trophy.

The Rough Riders, particularly, were not about to suggest they were the second-best team in the East. "As a matter of fact," one player said, "two recent it. We've listened to that kind of talk and we've read about it since we won the Eastern title. . . . What do we have to do to prove that we're the best team to represent the East? All this talk burns us up."

GAME NEVER FINISHED

It's a matter of history that the Rough Riders, underdogs by 6½ points to the Eskimos, won the cup with a 16-6 decision in a game at Empire Stadium in Vancouver that was brought to an abrupt and unprecedented halt 41 seconds from time when hundreds of fans swarmed on to the field and a youngster stole the game ball and disappeared into the mob.

Now, the Riders with a 17-point bulge over the first-place Hamilton Tiger-Cats after the first game of their two-game total-point EFC final series, are getting set to wrap up their cup-final berth after this Saturday's game at Hamilton. They finished second to the Tients and walloped them 30-13 at Ottawa last week.

Fresh in the memory of players is the 1960 two-game total-point series against Argonauts. The Riders won the opener 33-21 at home and were well on their way to blowing the whole thing in Toronto a week later until Captain Bobby Simpson came up with the hoary old shorter play to set up a fourth-quarter touchdown that put the series out of reach of Argonauts.

The Riders were badly outplayed up to that point but they suddenly got hot, scored two touchdowns in 77 seconds and took a 47-41 series lead. Argonauts, look over again and had the Rough Riders deep in their own territory when Simpson made them look silly with the old-fashioned sleeper.

As the crowd of 30,329 looked on in amazement, Simpson stayed close to the sidelines in full view of just about everybody in the park except the Toronto players. From the Ottawa 12-quarter Ron Lancaster passed to Simpson at the Toronto 40 and he got to the 18 for a gain of 80 yards.

A raincoat in an Oriental mood comes from Italy and was designed by Visconti of Emporio. Made of red and black cotton satin brocade, the coat closes at the shoulders with two brooches and a gilt chain. It has flap pockets and is lined with beige cotton satin. As an added attraction, the top is reversible and has set-in sleeves on the brocade side and kimono sleeves on the beige side.

ANN LANDERS

Take Food With You And Shame Tightwad

Dear Ann Landers: I have a sister-in-law who figures her groceries so close you need a research warrant to find an extra piece of bread in her house. Lucille is so tight you could faint right in her living room. I, before she'd offer you a cup of coffee.

Last Sunday afternoon my husband and I and our two children were driving by their home. They were sitting out front on lawn chairs and waving for us to stop. After about an hour our oldest boy said, "Aunt Lucille, I'm hungry." She replied, "Wait 'til you get home. I don't want to spoil your supper."

I was so burned up when I heard her answer the boy that way I suggested we leave.

Now I'm sorry I didn't tell her off. Should I have said something? If so, what?

—DELAID REACTION
Dear Delaid: What good would telling her off do? Since you are aware of Aunt Lucille's stinginess, feed your children before you take them to her home. Or if you want to be obvious, carry sandwiches along in a paper sack and ask if you can use her dishes.

Dear Ann Landers: I have become interested in a woman who is 43 but she could pass for much less. I am 27. This sounds like a big difference, but mentally and physically Rena and I are awfully close.

My mother is 45 years old and ready to take the gas pipe. I've told mother if she met Rena she'd like her a lot. But mother says she doesn't want to meet Rena because she's a sure she could control herself.

The problem is that Rena wants to back me in the restaurant business—no strings attached. I have a great location picked out and I'm sure I could do well. My mother says she will mortgage the house and get me the money if I have my heart set on the deal, but she doesn't want me to accept Rena's backing. Frankly I don't want to take a chance with mom's money. Please help me decide.—REX.

Dear Rex: If you haven't enough confidence in the deal to accept your mother's money then for heaven's sake don't accept Rena's money. Financial obligations make strange bedfellows—both literally and figuratively.

Get back into your own generation, Buster. You have one mother. That's enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I read the letter from the little boy who was afraid his parents might put his dog "Skipper" to sleep. As a member of the veterinary profession I resent your use of the term "vet." This is degrading to the profession and its members.

The proper terminology is "veterinarian" or "veterinary medical doctor" or "doctor of veterinary medicine." The word "vet" suggests an individual who has served in a war.

When "vet" is used in conversation I suspect the person cannot pronounce veterinarian. When it appears in print I suspect the writer cannot spell it. I hope you will publish my letter.—W.W.N., D.V.M.

Dear W.W.N., D.V.M.: I checked with three Chicago doctors of veterinary medicine. None of them liked being called "vets."

Gracie Versus The Beatles And Her Tour "Fantastic"

LONDON (AP)—At the age of 66, white-haired Gracie Fields recently finished a triumphant concert tour through the land of the youthful Beatles.

"She was fantastic," said impresario Harold Fielding, the man who talked her into singing in her homeland again.

With her husband, Boris Alperovitch, Gracie now lives on the Mediterranean island of Capri, operating a highly successful restaurant.

The British tour was the first the money songstress had done in five years.

"I hadn't expected to do this tour," said Gracie. "For I had convinced myself I'd never do a big one again. Then something happened that I hadn't expected. It happened when I was over here about a year ago."

It was up in Lancashire, at the River Ballroom in Blackpool, where I was competing being the mistress of ceremonies at a charity show. Someone put a microphone in my hand and I began singing.

"To my amazement," she said, "I found I was still with it. The dancers swirled around. Hundreds of the young ones stopped dancing and just stood on the floor listening."

"I almost broke down and wept. The reaction they gave me was so wonderful."

THEY LOVED HER

They behaved as if they wanted her to sing all night long. Some of the songs were written before many of her listeners were born. Songs like the nostalgic September Song.

"That old time," she said, "that old time when you know he's supposed to be the smartest in the business."

Before that night in her native Lancashire, Gracie had serious doubts about her ability to hold audiences in a crowded hall, often in the heart of anyone older than 25.

In 1957, at a Royal Variety Show in London, Gracie had a shattering experience. For the first time in her life she slipped before a British audience.

After she finished her last song and retreated to her dressing room, Boris told her with a dreadful husky cry:

"That night it was terrible. When you came on the audience loved you as always. But when you went off they hardly clapped at all."

SWINGING PARTNERS

By M. J. L.
Square Dancers from both ends of the Valley, and in the middle, too, gathered Saturday night in the Westbank Community Hall to dance to the calling of Ernie Funk of Kamloops and to dance with the Westside Squares. This was the Westside Squares' monthly party night and was held in the Westbank Community Hall.

A buffet supper was provided by the hosts.

Saturday, Nov. 21, we again have two party nights in the Valley. In the Scout Hall in Vernon, the Ogo-Pagos of the Landing will be the hosts and their caller for the evening is Ev Kuhn of Nelson. A buffet supper will be provided.

Also on the 21st in Penticton is the Wheel-N-Star monthly party. This one will be held in the Legion Hall in Penticton and Rob Emerson of Omak will be the caller. A buffet supper will be provided.

The monthly workshop will be held in the Youth Centre Hall in Summerland, Sunday, Nov. 22. The caller, Lesley, will meet at 1:30. The Okanagan Square Dance Association will meet at 2 p.m. and the workshop will commence at 3 p.m. All intermediate dancers are welcome and supper will be provided.

Still no news from the Vernon Stardusters who regularly have their party night on the fourth Saturday.

'Till next week—Happy Square Dancing!

—SWIMMING HEAD

Dear Head: It's awfully hard to raise a 41-year-old mother so give up.

Your husband is right—about one thing. The setup over there is nothing for children to see. I feel that your mother should be barred from your house, however. Keep the law strings out and your personal opinions to yourself. It's sad that your mother is throwing her life away but you cannot save her. She must save herself.

Mrs. J. Campbell requested that anyone having discarded Christmas messages for the Broomfield, please leave them at the church library. She also reported that five visits had been made to the hospital and 60 patients visited.

NINE GOWNS
Mrs. Halseman reported that nine hospital gowns, two nurses' uniforms, 10 pairs of soap and 2400 compresses and bandages had been sent via San Francisco to the foreign missions hospital.

Mrs. F. Heron announced that Sunnyvale School for the Retarded had done quite well from the proceeds of holiday theatre. She suggested that the meeting consider the possibility of sponsoring this group in the future as they were looking for

MACARONI VARIETY
MONTREAL (CP) — More than 100 varieties of macaroni are available in Canada, says Françoise Enard, a home economist with a food-producing company. Traditional types have been joined by a wide range of fancy varieties including bows, spirals, sea shells and flying saucers. She says Canadian consumption of macaroni has increased by 50 per cent in the last 15 years.

Ottawa Adds Personal Touch To Those Income Tax Notices

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 850,000 individual taxpayers will receive in the mail, starting in January, "personalized" income tax forms complete with a seven-digit code number.

Revenue Minister E. J. Benson announced the move today. Mailings will begin Jan. 11. The filing deadline will still be April 30 but again this year the department will accept postponed deadlines, a step designed to speed up filing and reduce the backlog of returns.

The new code replaces the old method of having forms assigned to clerks who typed in the taxpayer's name and address. Benson explained the move this way:

"We feel it will be more convenient for the taxpayer to receive his form by mail and to put it safely away until he has his documents ready for filing. It simplifies the filing process."

He said it also is a question of economy in tax-collecting. "We are trying to make the tax dollars go further through the use of the most up-to-date computer operations."

It is all a question of numbers.

We had to move now electronic processing through the return of tax returns. We have put a record of the taxpayer and two returns of income together in a computer processing. But to link these past returns with future returns we need to identify the taxpayer currently and quickly.

Computers read by numbers, not by names. That's why we need a processing of returns by number. The computer address and identification number will be the first time the taxpayer has been identified.

Opening lead—king of clubs. Many mistakes made in defense are directly traceable to a lack of partnership cooperation. Just as it takes two to tango, so it also takes two to find the best line of defense.

A good defensive pair can help each other tremendously by the use of ordinary signaling conventions. In ordinary signaling, partner is doing is the key to a good defensive play. If the defenders pay no attention to one another's signals, they are bound to have an occasional disaster.

Take a hand like this one, where East-West were not in contact. West had the king of clubs, on which East played the ace. As in any good partnership, the dealer asked West to stop playing the suit. It was a negative signal.

West, unaided, led the ace of diamonds, and again East played the ace. It was a negative signal. East did not want diamonds or clubs played next, and that East, by implication, was requesting a shift to a spade. Obviously, if East wanted diamonds or clubs continued, he would have played a higher card than the deuce on at least one of the first two plays.

But West, unaided, led another diamond, and with this play handed declarer the contract. South ruffed the diamond and played a club, and it then became impossible to prevent declarer from taking two trump finesses through East and thus making the contract.

Had West obeyed instructions and shifted to a spade at trick three, South would have gone down. Regardless of what declarer did next, East would eventually have scored a trump trick to defeat the contract.

South could win the spade in partner's hand at trick three and take partner's heart, but he would then have found it impossible to return to dummy for a second trump finesse. If he attempted to do so by leading a club, West would win the trick and play a spade to nip the plan in the bud.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Stimulating aspects should make this a notable day. You should make fine headway in both business and personal matters, and some unexpected recognition for past efforts is a distinct possibility.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, you have every reason to be optimistic during the new year. Look for an upturn in business and financial matters between late December and mid-February; also in mid-June and the September-October period. If you are single, new romance is in the offing with the possibility of marriage before the end of 1965. Best periods for the altar trip are late December, April, May and August.

In job matters which, in the case of Scorpions, often run to business lines, you will enter a fine cycle in mid-January for capitalizing on original ideas and this cycle should last until the beginning of March. Mid-March should bring excellent results for your efforts, and other boons along occupational lines are indicated in June, August and September. Do avoid extravagance, speculation and anxiety during the next five weeks, however.

A child born on this day will be endowed with fine imagination of marriage before the

Citizenship Minister Tremblay said Wednesday in the Commons that the Queen's portrait was ordered removed from all citizenship courts in Canada without his or the government's knowledge. He accused Opposition Leader Diefenbaker of trying to turn national unity by accusing the government of issuing the order concerning the portrait. Mr. Diefenbaker was silent. The exchange, started in the question period by Gordon Churchill, M.P.-Winnipeg, South Centre, resulted in a good deal of cross-fire shouting. Mr. Tremblay said Mr. Diefenbaker knew perfectly well that neither the minister nor the government had issued any directive. It had been made by the registrar of the citizenship courts and neither he nor the cabinet was aware of it before it was issued.

Senator George E. McGovern (Dem. S.D.) said Tuesday he would ask Congress to make it possible for every American to see a new historical film on the administration of the late president John F. Kennedy. Entitled "Years of Lightning, Day of Drums," the film was produced by the United States Information Agency with funds earmarked solely for activities abroad.

Melvin Bell filed a $2,000,000 suit against the Saturday Evening Post Tuesday, charging that the magazine had defamed him for allegedly derogatory remarks concerning his conduct of the Jack Ruby trial in Dallas, Tex. The suit was filed in Superior Court in San Francisco by lawyer Marvin E. Lewis.

Crump Tells Britain Straight Reasons For Economic Trouble

LONDON (CP)—Norm R. Crump, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, today bluntly told Britain the economic crisis is caused by port controls, export subsidies, labor turnover and inability to compete with other countries. "If our experience with Canadian Pacific Steamship is a valid guide, it is virtually impossible in this country to be assured of continuity of work under a labor contract," he said in a speech before the Canada Club of London.

His company placed orders in Japan for two fully automated port-handling machines. British bids on price, delivery times and other essential points were so out of line with those of Japanese bidders that Canadian Pacific had no alternative.

Crump was introduced by Lionel Cheever, Canada's high Commissioner, who described the CPR as the world's greatest transportation system. It operates railways, steamships, air lines, hotels and telegraph services. Crump said Canadians now have 40 per cent of the voting control in CPR with 20 per cent in British and other commonwealth countries. In 1962, CPR interest and dividend payments to British and other commonwealth countries amounted to 17 per cent of Canada's entire interest and dividend payments to Britain.
